2009 Minnesota / New England / US East Coast RV Trip

Stop - #17 - Adirondack 1000 Islands Campground,
Natural Bridge, NY

Adirondack 1000 Islands Campground is located in Natural Bridge, which is on the "approach" road to the massive Adirondack Park that takes up much of the northern part of New York State. We only spent one night here as we move further east across the state park tomorrow to the Ausable Chasm area. Our campsite was "deep" in the trees and mosquitoes.

We saw some chipmunks during our dinner hour, and during my tour of the campground, I came upon a few more "creatures" around a campfire. [smile]

Because of our late arrival, we didn't make it to the highlight of the area - beautiful Boldt Castle - but that just means we need to return one day soon.

Next Stop - #18 - Ausable River Campsite, Keeseville, NY
